Regulatory challenges for non-biological complex drugs: outcomes of the RSNN Expert meeting

 News | 26 February 2021

Towards the end of 2020, the NBCD Working Group took part in an Expert Meeting on non-biological complex drugs (NBCDs) hosted by the Regulatory Science Network Netherlands (RSNN). The invitation-only meeting brought together a diverse group of experts to discuss the complexity and challenges of regulating NBCDs in Europe.

A full report of the session is now available. In addition to outlining the regulatory science questions identified by the organisers of the expert meeting, the report provides a summary of the key discussion points, such as the role and importance of scientific advice.

The results of the meeting, as outlined in the report, will help to inform future policy discussions.
